

FALL 2017 FACULTY COLLOQUIUM SERIES

Dr. Ann Scott

Simulation-Based Education in a Rural Setting September 27 • 12:15 – 12:45 • Library Conference Room

Among pre-licensure interprofessional education (IPE) students in a rural setting, can IPE simulation-based scenarios using "remote in" technology enhance collaborative team-work? Hear about Dr. Scott's findings during this short talk.

Prof. Leigh Pate

Nurse Practitioner-Run Campus Wellness Clinic to Decrease Obesity

October 25 • 12:15 – 12:45 • Library Conference Room

Obesity is linked to 15.2% of college-age females and 17.5% of College-age males. An extension campus wellness clinic targets college freshman, offering positive long-term health outcomes for these students. Professor Pate will discuss the paths to these outcomes.

Dr. Bettie
Obi-Johnson

Dr. Annette
Duker-Golonka

The Sweet Smell of South Carolina's State Flower

November 15 • 12:15 – 12:45
Library Conference Room

Learn about innovative organic chemistry research at USCL focusing on Gelsemium sempervirens – the Yellow Jessamine flower's – uniquely beautiful aroma.

MEDFORD LIBRARY

UNIVERSITY OF SOUTH CAROLINA LANCASTER